Introduction

Alberta Family Histories Society (AFHS) is a non-profit organization formed in 1980, incorporated in Alberta and registered with Revenue Canada as a charitable society.

Definition of Personal Information

Personal information under this policy is defined as in Alberta's Personal Information Protection Act (Statutes of Alberta 2003, Chapter P-6.5, with amendments in force known as P.I.P.A.) Personal information is any information that can identify you. (This does not include business contact information).

Collection and Management of Personal Information

AFHS is required to collect information about its members by the Societies Act. AFHS uses this collected personal information from members to carry out its everyday activities, for example, to inform and contact members and volunteers, to mail out newsletters and journals, to process and distribute publication orders, , for library circulation related needs or to contact volunteers to research and answer genealogical queries from members and the public. Some personal information collected by the AFHS will also be of historical value to the Society

The personal information collected generally includes name, address, email address and phone number per the Membership Application Form. The form is available at Benefits of AFHS Membership - AFHS Membership

Consent is deemed given when the Membership Application Form is submitted.

Personal data may be disclosed only to comply with a legal obligation, to prevent or investigate possible wrongdoing in connection to the Society, protect personal safety and to protect against legal liability.

AFHS does not sell, lease or rent the personal information it collects, nor is this personal information used for other than AFHS activities and goals.

Members, volunteers and visitors of AFHS are advised of the privacy policy, and of any changes to it.

An AFHS privacy statement is included in membership applications, on the website, on volunteer phone lists, etc. so that anyone submitting or using personal information is made aware of the AFHS privacy policy.

The membership database has limited access to it. There are security procedures in place to block outside access.

Analytics

We may use third party Service Providers to monitor and analyze the use of our website.

Google Analytics is a web analytics service offered by Google that tracks and reports website traffic. Google uses the data collected to track and monitor use of our Service. This data is shared with other Google services. Personalizing and contextualizing of the ads on its own advertising network are also what Google may use the data for.

Links to other sites

There are links on the AFHS website to other sites that are not operated by AFHS. The Society has no control over and assumes no responsibility for the content, privacy policies or practices of any of these third party sites or services. You are strongly advised to review the Privacy Policy of every site you visit.

Privacy Officer

A Privacy Officer will be appointed by the AFHS Board for each year and identified in the newsletter, on the website and on application forms, etc. The Officer can be easily contacted via the Contact Us Link on the website in regards to any questions or concerns relating to the AFHS policy or practices.

The Privacy Officer will report to the Board regularly on any concerns or written requests regarding personal information.

Any member of AFHS may request access to the information collected about them by contacting the Privacy Officer.

If a member believes information about himself or herself is not accurate, the member should contact the Privacy Officer so the information can be updated.

Maintenance, Storage and Disposal of Personal Information

Personal information will be stored in a responsible manner, in locked cabinets, or in password protected electronic databases. Access to personal information will be limited to those needing this information for Society purposes. Once personal information is no longer needed for Society activities, or for its historical value, or for business or legal reasons, the AFHS will dispose of this in accordance with best practices.

Policy Review

AFHS will review its privacy policy regularly and update it as necessary.
